Warrior will be 6 on June 10th, 2024. Stands 15.1HH. We have owned him since he was a 2 year old. Warrior has been started right. He is very aware of his surroundings. He has chased the heel o matic a few times on the heel side. He has moved bulls and cattle on the ranch as a 4 yr old, worked 3 months in the feedlot as a 5 year old. Can rope and drag calves, one man doctor on him and tie off. He also worked the fall run at the feeding company. Warrior is very affectionate, loves to have his hears and head played with. First one to the gate when he gets to know you. Just had his teeth done on April 7th, 2024 and UTD on deworming. He is not a kids or intermediate rider horse, he is young and needs more miles and wet blankets. He loads pretty good but still needs more work at it. Gets along well with other horses. Only reason for selling is that he needs a job and

I dont have enough time to finish him out. He is very sweet boy!

If you're looking for a good stud that produces lots of color usually overall fillys and colts we bred him with paints and quarter horses and get lots of color. He is DNA, has a good temperment when he is breeding no bite no kick, respects the mares, very gentle with them, very good with the babies, he's just halter broke, leads and loads good. He loves being around people and dogs, loves his brushings and loves a lot of attention. I think he would be easy to break.
